

Family Support and Education

Dementia not only changes a person's memory, but can change their behaviors and personality as well, thereby changing your relationship.

Through one-on-one sessions, Cypress can assist you to understand dementia and how to provide the person diagnosed with the nourishment they need to continue to thrive in their new world. These tools can help you maintain a positive relationship with them throughout the disease process, without utilizing a professional caregiver.

